Reason or Rebellion?

On August 4th 1913 a car was spotted speeding away from a Devon mansion late at night. Moments later the alarm was raised as flames lit up the sky. The papers were filled with speculation that suffragettes were to blame. Truth or fiction?

This one question opened a door to the fascinating story of the fight for the vote in the south west - not a tale of a sleepy rural backwater but of women prepared to protest at political meetings, recruit in the streets, join mass rallies in London and suffer the indignity and agony of imprisonment as common criminals.

All this... and the biggest sleepover the region has ever known!
